

Early Detection Matters – Because She Does

Mammograms can save your life.

It's important to find breast cancer early, and that's why the Lee Health's Breast Health Centers use the latest methods for the most accurate diagnosis possible. FDA-approved advanced technology such as 3-D mammograms give doctors clear, precise images that make it easier to detect breast cancer.

These fast, simple, and effective procedures highlight issues long before they can be felt during an examination. That means faster treatment options and better peace-of-mind for you and your family.

To make an appointment at the Breast Health Center, call 239-424-1499.

Start having your mammograms yearly at age 40, or earlier if you're at high risk.
